

Giving the boy bread that day was a huge mistake on my part.

After that day, the boy came by my bread stand whenever he wanted to and begged for bread.

I felt sorry for the boy, so I couldn't turn him away, and I ended up giving him bread...

And the boy came back the next day and begged for bread again.

The next day...
The day after that...
And day after day after that...
